

BURNING SHIP LANDS ALL SAFELY MARION BEGINS FIGHT AGAINST GAS RATE

LAWYER MAINTAINS SECOND PROPOSED INCREASE INVALID

Complaint Lodged In Behalf of Seventy One
Ohio Cities

Columbus, Nov. 18.—The city of Marion today took formal steps to have declared invalid the second proposed rate increase filed with the Public Utilities Commission by the Logan Gas Company. The second, increase, as the first, would affect seventy-one other cities and villages.

Containing that the second increase cannot be legally filed until the first rate hike, filed February 7, has been approved or rejected by the utilities commission, City Attorney Grant E. Mouser, Jr., of Marion, filed a complaint against the second increase and asked that the new rate schedule be invalidated.

Mouser's move, it was expected, will pave the way for an appeal to the supreme court in event the company attempts to collect both new schedules. The first is now being collected under bond, due to the failure of the utilities commission to either approve or reject it within the 90 days required by law after notice of increase is filed.

"We intend to ask the supreme court to determine whether a public utility may collect a second rate raise before a previous increase has been investigated and allowed by the Utilities Commission," Mouser declared.

"If the utilities concerns have the right to file new rate increases while a previous one is pending they can keep on filing them for ever," he declared. "I have placed the question before the commission and if the ruling is adverse, I shall carry it to the state supreme court."

Mouser was the first official of any city effected, to file formal protest with the commission. His move automatically suspends collections on the second increase until 120 days have elapsed. Notice of the second rate schedule was filed by the company on November 14.

It is during this period that Mouser expects to obtain a ruling from the commission on the legality of the second increase.

The Logan Gas Company is owned by the Ohio Fuel Corporation. The concern's first rate schedule raised gas rates from 45c for the first 10,000 cubic feet to $1.17 1-2; from 90c to $1.62 1-2 for 2,000 cubic feet and from $2.25 to $2.97 1-2 for 5,000 cubic feet.

This change was made by providing that instead of 45 cents for each 1,000 cubic feet up to 10,000 feet, 95 cents and 45 cents per 1,000 feet for the next 4500 feet. This, according to Mouser, virtually amounted to a service charge of 72 1-2 cents.

The second rate increase provides for a charge of $1 for the first 500 feet and a flat rate of 60c for 10,000 feet for all gas used over that amount. Mouser characterized the rates as "unjust, unreasonable and discriminatory," and "contrary to law."

MEN'S DRESS FOOLISH?

Plymouth, England, Nov. 18.—"In the matter of dressing, men are fools compared with women," So believes Dr. R. V. Clark, medical officer of health for Manchester; nor did he hesitate to tell a large hall-full of delegates to the British Commercial Gas Association Conference his opinion of men's clothes.

"You men," he continued, "should imitate women and refuse to wear collars and clothes which keep the neck and arms covered. Ultra-violet rays of the sun are absolutely essential to the fullest enjoyment of health. But they cannot pass through the clothing that you men wear. Women's fashions which expose the arms and necks are to be commended wholeheartedly. We need to let more sunlight into our systems."

ONE KILLED AND SEVEN BURNED IN EXPLOSION

One of Injured Expected to Die After Blast In Cincinnati Soap Company Plant—Dead Man Not Identified

Cincinnati, Nov. 18.—One man was killed and seven severely burned in an explosion and fire at the Proctor and Gamble soap plant here today.

Trouble in the oil circulation system caused the explosion and resultant blaze, company officials said.

The dead man has not been identified. He was killed instantly.

The oil system exploded when the pipes became plugged and spread flaming liquid all over the plant, officials said.

Henry Gentz, another employee was so badly burned he was expected to die momentarily.

General confusion prevailed as the flaming oil spread over the floor, sending the employees who escaped uninjured, scurrying to the exits.

The injured were rescued from the fire and taken to hospitals. The plant is at St. Bernard, a suburb. Fire departments from St. Bernard and Cincinnati responded and soon had the blaze under control.

A check was being made to determine the identity of the other six men hurt.

Company officials began an investigation immediately to determine responsibility for the blaze.

SHENANDOAH BOARD AND MITCHELL COURT FIGHT OVER WITNESS

McCook Field, Dayton, Officer Summoned Before Both

Washington, Nov. 18.—A clash between the Mitchell court-martial and the Shenandoah board of inquiry over a witness enlivened proceedings in the capital today.

The Mitchell trial won by main force.

Major Frank B. Kennedy, of McCook Field, at Dayton, Ohio, was the bone of contention. Under subpoena to appear before the Mitchell court today, he was summoned this morning to appear at the Shenandoah inquiry at 10 a.m.

Major Henry Leonard, judge advocate of the Shenandoah court, warned Kennedy that if he did not appear he would call his failure to answer a subpoena to the attention of the District Court for contempt proceedings. Kennedy, however, went to the Mitchell trial to which he had been summoned first.

Colonel Blanton Winship, law member of the court, announced that Kennedy was subpoenaed first by the Mitchell court and should be kept here.

Major General Robert L. Howze, president of the court then notified an orderly to inform the Shenandoah court "that Kennedy would be kept here."

Washington, Nov. 18.—A group of social leaders of the navy-wives of high naval officers—was called by the Shenandoah naval court of inquiry today in its investigation of charges by Mrs. Margaret Ross Lansdowne concerning irregularities in the conduct of the court.

The social bloc subpoenaed included Mrs. Paul Foley, wife of the former Judge Advocate of the court, Mrs. George W. Steele, of the Lakehurst N. J. naval station, Mrs. Jacob Klein, executive officer of the station and Mrs. W. R. Gerhardt, wife of Secretary of the Navy Wilbur's personal aide.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Cutting his witness list and reducing all testimony to a minimum, Colonel William Mitchell aimed his attack at the navy today and sought completion of his case by the end of the week.

The flying colonel will attempt to make the navy fore and aft in an effort to substantiate his charges against its high command. Taking up the Shenandoah disaster first, he planned to call Captain Anton Neinen, dirigible expert and follow him with Admiral William S. Sims, retired.

REVOLUTIONARY AIR DEVICE INVENTED

Berlin, Nov. 18.—The United Press learned today that two youthful chemists of Berlin University have invented a device foreshadowing the electro-helium airship and capable of revolutionizing dirigible air navigation.

The inventors claim that the Shenandoah disaster would have been avoided with this invention.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, head of the Zeppelin Works and pilot of the American Zeppelin LZ-120 (Los Angeles) predicted that it would convert dirigible navigation into a "lucrative business."

JOHN COOLIDGE ILL OF HEART AILMENT; CONDITION SERIOUS

Father of President Rallies From Two Sinking Spells

Plymouth, Vt., Nov. 18.—The condition of Col. John Coolidge, father of the president, suffering from a recurrence of his heart ailment, was reported "unchanged" today.

May Johnson, the Colonel's nurse said he spent a comfortable night and had slept well considering his condition.

Dr. Albert M. Cram, Colonel Coolidge's physician was expected to decide whether he will call other doctors into consultation following his visit to the Colonel's home this morning.

Shortly after he awoke today the Colonel suffered two "sinking spells." He quickly recovered, however, and told his nurse they had not caused him great discomfort.

At 8:45 a.m., Dr. Cram arrived. He said the attacks apparently were similar to those the Colonel experienced late yesterday and he did not regard them as alarming symptoms.

Mrs. Johnson, Aurora Pierce, the Colonel's housekeeper and Angus Macauley, Plymouth's only traffic policeman and a close friend of Col. Coolidge, were at the Coolidge home during the night.

According to Dr. Cram, the Colonel's condition is rather serious, but not critical. Because the "heart block" from which he has suffered has become more pronounced, the doctor has ordered his patient to abstain from all unnecessary activity.

The fact that the Colonel is 80 years old, augments the gravity of the ailment and necessitates a careful watch for adverse developments, according to Dr. Cram.

Washington, Nov. 18.—The White House was in constant telephone communication today with Plymouth, Vt., where the president's aged father, Col. John Coolidge is seriously ill.

Though Col. Coolidge's condition is being watched carefully it is not considered sufficiently critical at this time to necessitate the president's presence at his bedside.

Dr. J. F. Coupal, the president's military medical attaché, who attended Col. Coolidge during his illness last summer, is consulting with the Plymouth doctors over the telephone.

President Coolidge accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge and Dr. Coupal, will leave Washington tomorrow morning to speak in New York in the evening.

If his father's condition suddenly becomes worse, it is understood the president may rush to Plymouth from New York.

FORMER DAYTON MAN COMMITTS SUICIDE

Columbus, O., Nov. 18.—The body of Herman F. Venghaus, former Dayton printer, who committed suicide here late yesterday, was sent to Dayton today. Venghaus, despondent because of ill health, shot himself in the head. He was employed by the Current Events Publishing Company here. He came to Columbus three months ago.

Church Basement Houses Rescued Ship Passengers

Lewes, Del., Nov. 18.—Sleepy but still sustained by nervous excitement the passengers and crew of the Clyde liner Lenape, which burned to the hull early today off Delaware Breakwater, sat in the basement of the Presbyterian Church here today, and over coffee, rolls and doughnuts, compared their thrilling experiences of a few hours before.

It was a laughing matter now. In the darkness before dawn with flames leaping in the sky and smoke pouring down to strangle them, it was something else.

A few of the survivors had burns to show for their night of peril but most of them escaped except for the discomfort and the satiety of the thrills accorded them.

Ernest Schelmerdine, of Providence, R. I., was one of the rescued men and he gave the United Press a graphic portrayal of the hours of horror, through which he had passed.

"I think it was 11 o'clock, when we passengers first heard of the fire," said Schelmerdine. "The crew took the matter so calmly, however, that the passengers were saved a panic. A crowd of us walked up to the wireless cabin and we were told that there were sufficient boats nearby to keep us from danger.

"That was certainly reassuring, but when flames actually shot out of the hold, I for one, was not confident that everything was going to turn out all right.

"We watched the Lenape turn into shore, and far away we saw some lights. I believed that these came from Atlantic City, but I was hoping they were on a boat.

The hours which followed were a nightmare.

"We were told that ships were coming to our assistance from every direction, but the minutes dragged like hours, until we finally reached Delaware Breakwater."

Reports that one or two passengers had lost their lives in leaping from the burning vessel continued to circulate here. A police officer, however, talking with steamship officials said that a man by the name of Levertson was the only one missing so far as could be determined.

DRUSE SEEKING TO SHAKE OFF FOREIGN YOKE SAYS DELEGATE

Tribesmen Under Turkish Officer Occupy Village

Berlin, Nov. 18.—The Druse tribesmen of Syria now rebelling against the French want the foreign yoke shaken from their neck and have made unofficial peace overtures to the French looking toward France's relinquishment of her mandate in Syria.

This was revealed by the United Press today in an exclusive interview with Emir Cheikh Arslan, delegate of the Druses to the League of Nations.

He outlined the Druses terms thus:

1—The French mandate in Syria must be abolished.

2—Syria must be divided into two sovereign states, Syria proper and Lebanon, both of which would be members of the league.

3—French garrisons would not be permitted in Syria, except for a single one, at perhaps Beirut.

4—A French naval base could be maintained only in Lebanon waters.

5—Syria is disposed to agree that all Syrian loans should be floated only in France.

6—Syria would agree to employment of French technicians and French instructors for the army if any were needed.

7—French capital would have priority in the exploitation of Syria's natural resources such as mines, water-power and agriculture, but Syria would insist upon establishing her own currency.

Under the above conditions, Syria would be prepared to conclude a thirty year alliance with France providing each nation had equal status.

London, Nov. 18.—An Evening News Beirut dispatch dated Monday and delayed in transmission reported today that Zaid El Atrash's rebel forces have now occupied all villages between Hama and the Leontes river.

They were reported to be under a former Turkish officer, trained in the military school at Berlin and now recognized as chief of staff of the Druse Sultan.

Continued fighting was reported.

The above dispatch tends to indicate that the Druse tribesmen are bringing the insurrection closer to Beirut, which yesterday was reported in fear of the rebel siege and capture.

STEAMER RUSHED TO SHORE WHILE BLAZE PERILS PASSENGERS

Vessel Left To Fate After Valiant Effort Saves
All Lives

Lewes, Del., Nov. 18.—Successfully fighting back flames within its hold as it sped through the night toward Delaware breakwater, the Clyde liner Lenape discharged its 175 passengers early today and then yielded to the fire and went aground.

During the vessel's three hour race for safety, radio broadcasting was stopped. Operators on ships at sea and in land stations devoted themselves to the messages crackling back and forth between the burning Lenape and the craft speeding to her aid and once more the radio played the major part in averting disaster.

It was 11:30 last night when the stricken liner, bound from New to Charleston, S. C., sent out and S. O. S. Her position was given as eight miles south of Overfalls Light ship and even then she had turned and headed for the breakwater, her crew a fire quarters and the engine room force standing by to get an additional knot's speed out of the vessel.

"Afire, smoking badly" was the Lenape's reply to the first inquiries of other stations.

"Making fifteen knots," came next. But then came the wireless "fire becoming bad. Holding our own but not gaining."

A pilot boat and the U. S. Coast Guard cutter Kickapoo, which had put out to the vessel's assistance at the first call for help, found the vessel plowing toward the breakwater.

Shortly before 2 a.m., Captain Charles W. Deveraux, of the Lenape ordered his radio operator to inform other vessels that no more assistance was needed. Had the liner needed them, at least twenty vessels would have reached her within another hour.

The breakwater was lined with spectators as the Lenape steamed in and dropped anchor at 2:45 a.m.

With flames crackling, the passengers and members of the crew were put into lifeboats for the mile and a half journey across comparatively calm seas. Then the ship was beached.

Reports were prevalent that some of the passengers in panic had leapt into the sea. But the first call up among the groups huddled by the shore revealed none of that and only a few with slight injuries.

Since entering the New York-Jacksonville service in 1912, the Lenape has had two mishaps. On October 11, 1921 she sank at her pier in New York and after reconditioning, grounded near Jacksonville, in October, 1922, to be refloated a few hours later. The vessel is a single screw steamer of 5,179 gross tons, 367 feet long and is 13 year old.

Some of the passengers were taken on the Kickapoo to Cape May, N. J. Those brought there wandered about the town and many went to the Pennsylvania Station where it was understood a special train would take them to Philadelphia.

The charred hull of the Lenape was drifting at dawn this morning and the Kickapoo came back from the coast guard station to arrange a tow.

Captain Steele, the owner of a private launch is credited as one of the heroes in the rescue work.

He maneuvered his craft to the burning ship and threw over a number of lines, taking off several passengers before the Kickapoo and the pilot boat Philadelphia began rescue.

MINISTER JAILED ON FEDERAL CHARGE

Cleveland, Nov. 19.—Comparing him self to Colonel Billy Mitchell, the Rev. Albert S. Gregg, in a statement today, reiterated his charges against the William C. Hicks, rector of Grace Episcopal Church, that "Hicks' made improper advances to a woman parishioner, who came to him for advice."

Circulation of the charges—in affidavit form—led to the indictment of Rev. Gregg late Tuesday on charges of sending obscene literature through the mails.

"My case runs parallel to that of Colonel Mitchell," Rev. Gregg's statement says. "A matter of principle is involved. I can prove all the allegations in the 'affidavit.'"

Rev. Hicks was asked to resign after the Gregg charges were circulated. Rev. Hicks refused to resign and sought criminal action against Rev. Gregg.

SLAYER OF SHERIFF FLEES TO MOUNTAINS AND DEFIES CAPTURE

Principal In Election Brawl
Escapes From Kentucky
Bank

Hazard, Ky., Nov. 18.—From the fastness of the mountains surrounding Hyden, Leslie County, David Steel, who shot and killed Sheriff Joe Morgan in an election brawl, today defied a mob of irate citizens, bent on avenging the peace officer's death.

Stealing from the Citizens' National Bank Building, where he had fortified himself and was protected by a crowd of followers, Steel managed to flee into the mountains, according to reports reaching here today.

State troops sent to Hyden from Hazard were patrolling the streets and manning machine guns from vantage points although no untoward incidents were recorded.

Dispatches brought to Hyden by messenger, said that Steel had lost himself in the maze of wooded hills and that he would not surrender until assured that he would be protected from Morgan's followers who besieged the bank all day yesterday.

Morgan was shot when he announced he would contest the defeat of his wife, who as candidate for Sheriff, was defeated by two votes.

Steel was reported to have supported the winning candidate. The town split into two factions and a pitched battle was obviated only by the sending of troops, officials said.

The troops were sent to Hyden, when Gov. Fields was advised that the situation "was beyond control of Hyden officials."

EIGHTY SECOND TRAFFIC VICTIM

Columbus, Nov. 18.—Traffic fatalities for the year in Franklin County stood at eighty-two today with the death of Mrs. Anna Bancroft Kilbourne, who was run down and killed when she attempted to cross a street.

Mrs. Kilbourne was the widow of Col. James Kilbourne, founder of the former Kilbourne and Jacobs Company.

FIRE DESTROYS RIVER DOCKS AT NEW ORLEANS; LOSS 24 MILLIONS

New Orleans, La., Nov. 18.—Fire destroyed several blocks of modern dock facilities along the Mississippi River during the night causing losses that may reach $24,000,000 according to early estimates today.

J. S. Simpson, sixty, was run down and killed by the automobile of Fire Chief Evans who was racing to the fire. No other casualties were reported.

Explosions of gasoline drums standing on the docks sounded like a mimic battle and were heard in blocks. The entire river front was illuminated by the flames which shot 200 feet high.

The large stocks of freight were destroyed.

XENIA NEEDS STRICT BUILDING CODE BUT FIRE PROTECTION COMMENDED

Xenia has excellent fire protection but its citizens are not practicing fire prevention, C. S. McGruder, state fire marshal, told the Xenia Kiwanis Club, Tuesday night. Mr. McGruder was the main speaker at the weekly club meeting held at the Goody Shoppe.

He complimented the community on the way his inspectors were received on their annual visit Tuesday. He particularly expressed his appreciation of the reception tendered the inspectors by the business men. "A good many business houses showed a recent clean-up," he said.

Northern Ohio practices better fire protection than the southern part of the state, according to the state fire chief. He said he made four exceptions of cities in southern Ohio—Cincinnati, Middletown, Springfield and Dayton. "After this inspection I am going to add Xenia to this group, since it has been proved to have fine protection," he said.

Twenty-four million dollars were lost in Ohio through fire last year, the speaker said. There were 6,000 serious fires, 3,000 of this number being homes. The latter were not valued as "houses" but as "homes," he declared.

The remaining number was composed of mercantile, manufacturing and business houses. The fire loss in the state threw 18,000 people out of work. At least 15,000 were seriously burned with 501 deaths of this number 200 being adult producers with a value of $15,000. One hundred and twenty-eight babies were burned to death in the state last year, he said, fifty-nine mothers, whose loss cannot be estimated.

"Eighty-five per cent of this loss was caused by carelessness," he said, "and because the community did not take up fire prevention as a local problem."

Mr. McGruder has presented "Fire prevention to Kiwanis International as a project of the club, but no official action has been taken.

Ohio is far ahead of any other state in the country in fire prevention, the speaker said. Fire chiefs over the state have come to the conclusion that the best and safest way to fight fire is before the fire begins—through prevention.

Mr. McGruder congratulated Xenia on its fire department and chief, declaring each fire fighter is well drilled. He said Chief T. B. Claire is doing good work in fire prevention and that the city is as well equipped with fire-fighting apparatus as any city in the state.

No city in the state the size of Xenia has a waterworks that is superior to that of Xenia, the speaker said. The "housekeeping" at the Xenia waterworks was declared by the fire marshal to be perfect.

What Xenia needs is a strict building code, the speaker declared. "Fire hazards in this city should be eliminated. Some houses in Xenia have been built to be sold and not to be lived in.

"There are more shingled roofs in Xenia than I like to see," he said. "Practically the entire downtown section of the city is under one roof, with not sufficient fire walls, which presents a big fire hazard," he said.

Mr. McGruder recommended two more regular firemen on the Xenia Fire Department. He urged the fire prevention program "not only to save fire loss and keep down insurance rates, but for a better community."

The speaker was introduced by City Manager S. O. Hale. Guests at the meeting were T. B. Claire, fire chief; John V. Prugh, city commissioner-elect; Dr. C. G. McPherson, city commissioner and Ray Cox, fire insurance agent.

Club members and guests were served a rabbit supper. Elwood Dunkel was chairman of the program.

CENTRAL THEME OF CHRISTIANITY IS LOVE SAYS RECTOR

Love as the central theme of Christianity was the fact developed by the Rev. Maxwell Long at the opening service Tuesday evening, of the mission being held this week at Christ Episcopal Church.

"John, the writer of the fourth gospel, brings out in the portions of Scripture of which he is the author, the idea that love of God and man should permeate the life of the Christian," the Rev. Mr. Long said. "It cannot be understood except by experience, just as mother love or laughter cannot be understood except by experience. Love should find expression in our lives, not through mere lip service, but through action and attitude.

"To forgive someone who has wronged you deeply is much more religious and Christ-like and more difficult than all the creeds or ritual ever formulated," said the Rev. Mr. Long. Additional services will be held this evening and Thursday evening.

SERMON ANSWERS MANY QUESTIONS FOR CHRISTIANS

The Rev. Joseph Flacks, St. Louis, Mo., evangelist, answered some of the questions that trouble Christians in a study of the first chapter of Ephesians, at the First Reformed Church, Tuesday evening.

In speaking of the plainness and simplicity of God's plan of salvation as revealed in His word, he said the only reason men would not believe is simply that they "don't want to," that they love darkness rather than light. He emphasized God's reason for calling men to Him—"that they might be holy and blameless, that they might be to the praise of His glory." The speaker pointed to the fact that none are holy and blameless in themselves; that all are full of sin, but that when His offer of grace in Jesus Christ is accepted, He sees only Jesus in us and His holiness and blamelessness covers all imperfections.

The Rev. Mr. Flacks will continue this study in Ephesians Wednesday night. The public is urged to attend the meetings.

CEDARVILLE

By SUPERINTENDENT OXLEY

Monday marked the beginning of American Education Week of 1925. Most of us will recall the program of special activities of last year in observation of this event. The plan for observation this year in connection with the public schools will be very materially different from last year's plan. We hope this year that it will be possible for a large number of our patrons to find time to visit the school building some time during the week and observe the work as it is done there.

This year we have an enrollment of 468 pupils in our public schools. Thirty-six of these pupils are in a one room school. These thirty-six pupils represent six grades. They, with their teacher, Mrs. Hazel Barber, are working hard to maintain a standard equal to that maintained in the main building where the remainder of the pupils are located. We would be glad to have the patrons visit that school as well as the one in Cedarville. All class work will progress as it would on any day during this special week. Programs of the work in each of the rooms are posted on the doors of the rooms so that visitors may know what is being done in the room before entering.

There will be a blank for registration outside each of the rooms and we would like very much that each of our visitors would register at each room they visit. These records will be a part of the room record and will show the number of people who were sufficiently interested in that room's work to call and see it.

The program for the grades on the second floor of the building will be as follows: All class work open for visitors at all times; a special chapel exercise will be conducted each day and the program for such chapel exercises will be along the lines of the following: Monday from 2:00 to 2:20, "The Constitution," Mrs. Wilson; Tuesday from 10:00 to 10:20, "Observation," Miss Williams; Wednesday, 10:00 to 10:20, "Teacher's Day," Miss Rife; Thursday 2:00 to 2:20 "Progress in Education," Mr. Oxley; Friday, 10:00 to 10:20, "Physical Education," Mr. Cox.

We will be glad to have our parents and patrons join in these chapel exercises with us from day to day as well as to visit the regular class work.

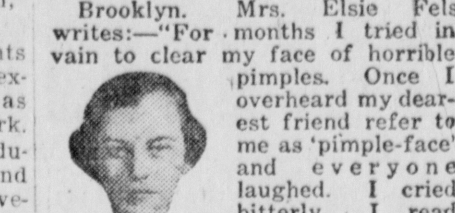

Our plan included a talk on "Education in the Home, the Church and the School" to be given Sunday evening at the M. E. Church but we have been informed that the College is arranging for its annual Bible Reading contest at that time, so we will have the talk planned at that time at a later date and yield the evening to the College for its contest.

The really big purpose of Education Week is to get everybody more interested in the cause of education of the youth. This cause is today the one exceedingly interesting cause in our commonwealth for upon the training of our youth rests the decisions to be made in the future.

On Tuesday evening, November 24, the seventh and eighth grades of the Cedarville school will present a Thanksgiving program in the school auditorium. Come, for these young folks will have something good for you. A small admission will be charged at the door to cover the expenses of the program.

Cried Self to Sleep Called "Pimple-Face"

Brooklyn. Mrs. Elsie Fels writes:—"For months I tried in vain to clear my face of horrible pimples. Once I overheard my dearest friend refer to me as 'pimple-face' and everyone laughed. I read about Carter's Little Liver Pills being used successfully to clear complexions and finally tried them. Well, my picture tells its own story, doesn't it?"

Carter's Little Liver Pills in many cases will do more to encourage a healthy complexion than all the known beauty treatments. They cause the bowels to move in a gentle manner relieving the intestines of their poisonous matter.

"SINGING TOWERS" SUBJECT OF MUSIC CLUB PAPER, MONDAY

A remarkable paper on "Singing Towers" was given by Mrs. Mary M. Meredith before Xenia Woman's Music Club, at the meeting held in Christ Episcopal Church, Monday. The meeting of club members in the church was significant to the study of "Church Music" by the members.

Mrs. Meredith led the club members through a history of the carillons, starting in Holland and Belgium in the fifteenth century, when the time of day or night was told by chimes. Towns called each other in possessing the greatest number of musical bells until whole tunes were played on the carillons in each community.

Then came the adoption of the key board, each key representing a bell note. Playing of folk songs has evolved into wonderful bell melodies throughout the world. Thousands now gather for the carillon concerts.

This splendid art of the carillon has now happily crossed the Atlantic and is finding a welcome on our continent.

Several of our cities have fine memorial carillons which have recently become a part of the civic life, the singing tower of Andover, Mass., completed last autumn is a war memorial. Anton Brees, who came to America recently from Antwerp will devote all his time to his duties as carillonneur of the carillon of fifty-three bells which John D. Rockefeller Jr. has presented in memory of his mother to the Park Avenue Baptist Church, New York City. It is the largest carillon in the world.

Program of the afternoon, augmenting Mrs. Meredith's paper, was as follows: Organ—"Voluntary" Calkin; "Allegretto" Gustave Merkel.

TRINITY M. E. ANNUAL DINNER TUESDAY, SUCCESS

Two hundred and seventy-five people gathered around the tables and enjoyed a wonderful repast at the annual congregational dinner of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, Tuesday evening, in the church parlors.

Handsome decorations of the tables and social rooms were only one lovely feature of the delightful occasion. Baskets of red buds were placed in the center of each table, with streamers of red crepe paper leading from one end of the tables to the other.

The bright red against the snowy white linen formed a pretty and effective scene, combined with lighted red candles in crystal holders, the mellow light casting a pretty glow over the scene.

Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock. The entire assembly sang "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow," followed by prayer by the pastor, Dr. V. E. Brown.

Trinity Sunday School orchestra played during dinner, including classic and sacred music in the program, another highly appreciated detail of the evening.

Much credit for the success of the dinner is being given Mrs. J. H. Canaday, who had charge of the arrangements. The affair was thought to be among the most successful in the history of the congregation.

Mrs. W. B. Chew presided as toastmaster and a number of toasts were given by members of the congregation. Mrs. Charles Dean gave a toast on "Friendship," Mrs. Emma Zell, on "Love," Mr. H. C. Aultman on "Our Boys," Mrs. William McGee Wilson on "Our Girls," Mr. J. J. Stout, on "Our Orchestra," Mrs. William H. McGervey "Our Junior Choir," who urged that all come to the special concert to be given by the organization, December 3.

Mrs. McGervey led the congregation in a "get together song." After singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," Mr. Roy Inman played "The End of a Perfect Day" on the trumpet, accompanied by Miss Marjorie Street.

SOLVE THE PROBLEM

"I was almost distracted with stomach trouble, gas and colic attacks and didn't know what to do. I had tried everything I heard of, and the doctor's medicine did not help me. It is a simple harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Sold by Sayre and Hemphill and Druggists everywhere.—Adv.

STEAMER SINKS IN CINCINNATI HARBOR

Cincinnati, Nov. 18.—Misinterpreted bell signals were believed responsible today, for the sinking of the steamer Greenwood, which sank in 20 feet of water in the Cincinnati harbor last night, after being rammed by the steamer Chris Green.

The Greenwood's crew of 30 men and officers escaped uninjured. Nearly all of the craft's cargo was salvaged before she sank. The hull was protruding from the water today and harbor officials expressed the belief she could be raised.

Both ships are owned by the Green line, Cincinnati, although the Greenwood had been temporarily chartered by the Independent Packet Co., Pittsburgh.

The Chris Green was backing from her wharf when she rammed the Greenwood, crushing her against her pier. Officials said they believed the chief engineer of the Chris Green misunderstood the signals.

The Greenwood has a wooden hull while the Chris Green is of steel.

THE WORLD COMING TO SPEAK ENGLISH.

AUSTRIA is to make the teaching of English compulsory in its higher grades, French and Italian in some measure yielding ground to it. This follows the success of teaching English by radio in Vienna, which was inaugurated last year. Commenting on this significant advance the Cincinnati Times-Stars says editorially:

"Thus our mother tongue moves a step forward toward the status of a world speech. But while it conquers, it makes terms with the conquered, incorporating their own idioms in its hospitable and adaptable structure. The English vocabulary now contains half a million words, of which most of us use about a thousand. It has taken over expressive terms from the American Indian and the East Indian, beautiful words from the Celt, quaint words from the Chinese, rugged words from the Scandinavian peoples, precise and elegant Romance words; and these are part of a super-structure built upon the dual foundation of Latin and Teutonic speech. Two of the great trade jargons of the world, pidgin English and the ridiculous and useful Biche-la-war are illegitimate progeny of the English tongue. "Why has this all come about? For no apparent reason except that English is a hospitable tongue, and that those who speak it are paramount colonizers and travelers."

A QUARANTINE ON OHIO CORN.

THE department of agriculture of Illinois has ruled that corn in the ear from Ohio may not be sent to the international stock show, soon to be held in Chicago, says the Columbus Dispatch. It continues:

"The presence of the European corn borer in so many counties of Ohio is of course the reason for the order, which applies to corn from New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan and all the New England states as well as to Ohio. It is a thoroughly reasonable safeguard, to which no thinking citizens of the corn borer is an ugly fact and every effort to stay its advance into new territory, or to eradicate it where it now exists, should meet with the heartiest co-operation."

RACIAL DELUSIONS

PREJUDICES, which they come naturally by, cause nations, races and peoples to think themselves and their institutions superior to all others. Except where there is rebellion, each country is convinced its form of government is the best. Man has yet to find a race or people which lays no claim to superiority over all other races or admits its own inferiority. Illustration of this point is translation into English of an editorial printed in a pro-Fascist newspaper in Rome.

"Italian victories in every field where risk is joined with endurance, skill and physical perfection have become so common that they no longer swell with pride the bosoms of our fellow-countrymen," reads this patriotic pronouncement from Italy. "Each of these new demonstrations of our racial superiority naturally raises the question whether a people capable of winning such triumphs does not likewise possess, when compared with other nations, a superior capacity for governing itself by original and progressive methods. The repetition of such triumphs is tantamount to a reaffirmation of political superiority, which will be recognized eventually both at home and abroad, and which should inspire the Italian people with new hope and faith."

Thus do the Italians apply to themselves the identical phrases in self-approbation that the people of every country now, will and ever shall enjoy in their patriotic comparisons. This editorial from Rome is peculiarly significant just at this time when so much is heard here of Nordic superiority and of the crimes of the Mussolini dictatorship.

LABOR PROGRAM IN NEXT CONGRESS CENTERED IN EFFORT TO HOLD GAINS

Washington, Nov. 18—Labor will have little to ask in the way of legislation from the next congress it was made known at American Federation of Labor headquarters here today.

Activities of the legislative committee of the federation will be confined principally next session to blocking the passage of measures that weaken laws which labor has helped to put on the statute books. The committee will likewise "stand guard" against what it terms "hostile legislation."

No change in the immigration law is sought at this session although the American Federation has recently concerned itself with the question of restricting Mexican immigration.

It has been suggested by President Green of the Federation that administrative steps be taken to provide closer scrutiny of incoming aliens, Asiatics, Europeans and Mexicans as well, who are smuggled across the borders.

In a review of legislative achievements, the American Federation of Labor, stressing its non-partisan political policy, has made public a list of 216 laws which it claims to have helped pass in the past 20 years in congress.

During this period the greatest influence of labor in congress was realized. It dated from the "Bill of Grievances" submitted to the Senate and House in March 1905.

legislation inimical to labor and its program. In the 65th congress from March 1917 until 1919, it was claimed 42 laws which organized labor favored were approved, while only four were defeated.

But the story of labor in connection with the 66th congress shows 20 favorable bills enacted and 14 defeated.

In the 67th congress 29 measures of interest to labor were passed and 28 defeated. In the last congress the program of labor measures dwindled to 17 in which it was interested, but among these were the Isle of Pines treaty, protection of Alaskan fisheries, bonus legislation and several District of Columbia measures affecting federal employees.

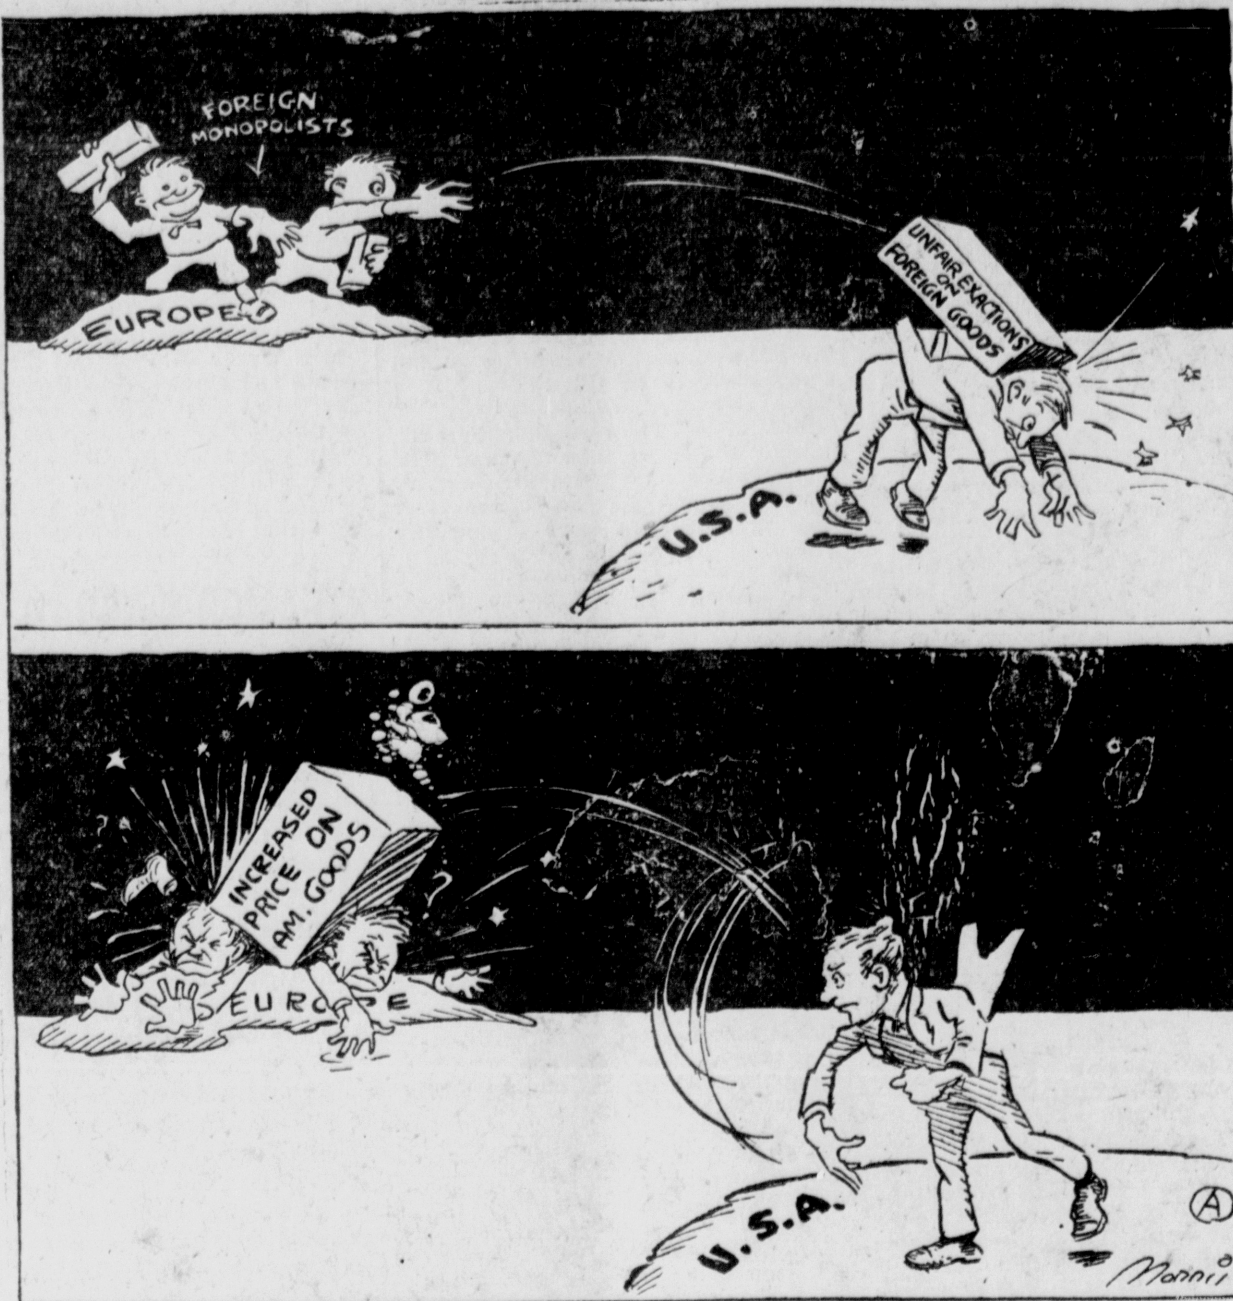

Immigration was the outstanding labor policy to come before the last congress.

1905-Twenty Years Ago-1925

The work of Maud was manifest Monday when Humpy Slagle was put out of business in less time than it takes to tell and is now disabled at his home, suffering from a bruised arm and dislocated shoulder. A mule kicked him.

It seems that the roller skating fever is about to visit Xenia again. The rink has been leased, the floor smoothed and the opening will occur Friday night.

A number of young women in the West End have formed a club for the study of literature.

Dr. W. H. Finley, this city, was the essayist at the meeting of the Clark County Medical Society last night. Dr. Grube, Xenia, also participated in the discussion.

As Thanksgiving comes around each year I am always puzzled concerning the dinner menu for this festive day. Shall I publish the old-fashioned kind, embracing the tried-and-true dishes of our ancestors? Or do my readers prefer at least a few new dishes scattered among the old?

I believe that the majority of housekeepers like to serve a novel dish or two in the Thanksgiving Dinner. Here is the menu which I intend to serve on my own home table:

Hors d'Oeuvres
Roast Turkey
Brown Gravy
Sage-Onion Stuffing
Cranberry Sauce
Celery
Old-Fashioned Potato Cake
Squash en Casserole
Creamed Onions
Lettuce
Thousand Island Dressing

Mince Pie
Cider
Coffee
Pumpkin Pie
Nuts

You will see that I have substituted Hors d'Oeuvres for the customary soup. Also I am serving the squash in a way which our grandmothers would not have served it. For so heavy a dinner, merely lettuce with Thousand Island Dressing makes a substantial enough salad. Here are the recipes for the out-of-the-ordinary dishes:

Hors d'Oeuvres: Buy two large tomatoes. Slice them thinly. Place one slice on an individual salad plate. Over it sprinkle one tablespoon of ground, stuffed olives, one tablespoon of chopped cucumber pickle, and one teaspoon of minced celery. Top with a dab of Mayonnaise dressing and finish with a dash of paprika. This makes one portion.

Old-Fashioned Potato Cake: Mash enough boiled white potatoes to fill a quart measure twice. Season with melted butter, salt and pepper to suit individual taste, then stir in three large onions, chopped, and three beaten eggs. Form into "loaves" and bake in two pans in a moderate oven till a golden brown.

Squash en Casserole: To two cups of mashed boiled Hubbard squash, add two tablespoons of melted butter, salt and pepper to season, two beaten eggs and two tablespoons of sweet cream or rich top milk. Turn into a buttered casserole, sprinkle with finely-chopped mild American cheese, cover with dry bread crumbs and bake 35 minutes in a moderate oven.

The Best Cough Syrup Is Home-made

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have best cough medicine you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? Thousands of families the world over feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will soon earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2 1/4 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heats the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/4 ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Better Than Spanking

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. Don't blame the child; there is a cause for this, and it has to be removed. If your children are afflicted in this way, or any member of your family is bothered by weak kidneys, you owe it to them to send TO-DAY for a FREE TRIAL of our Bed-Wetting Remedy. It has proved a blessing to thousands of families.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Editor Gazette:

Bracing and chill, even if slightly humid, the Autumn air has stimulated Youth to trim its muscle in competition. All through October and November, boys wearing padded jerseys, padded trousers, heavy helmets and heavy shoes with cleated soles, have been familiar sights in Xenia.

This is the time of the year when boys seem most overwhelmingly infected with the desire to grapple with one another, push one another around; and Football has been devised that they may gratify that desire in some measure, and yet under certain restraining regulations.

Some degree of physical contest with his peers seems necessary to the building of a boy's character. It is as much a part of his education as is the study of Mathematics. The more direct and intense the physical contest, the more effective it is likely to be in strengthening the boy's courage, self-control and self-confidence.

In the years before football became so well organized as a sport and so generally played, fist fights were far more common among boys than they now are. They did not always originate in hatred or insult. They were often the means by which hot-tempered and vigorous youth expressed its need of violent, competitive action. Football has rendered fistfights almost obsolete.

Parents everywhere are glad that a game that is played for the most part cleanly and under competent supervision has taken the place of the sort of vicious and brutal mauling to which boys used so often to subject one another.

Better than any other sport, Football meets the need of the American Youth and the American public.

And because of what Football is doing for Xenia Youth and Xenia Public, Xenia ought to do more for Football. Especially should encouragement be given to the team that has battled so nobly for Central High—and the only way to give encouragement that will really be beneficial is through attendance at the games, as in no other way is money provided for the necessary expenses for the maintenance of the team.

Central High will play Wilmington, Friday, at home. The chances of victory will be greatly increased if the team is given the encouragement of having present a large crowd of Xenia people. The class of ball these boys really entitles them to our support; and it is to be hoped that every Xenian who can will be on hand to cheer and help Central High win from Wilmington.

ON MY CONDUCT WITH THE LADIES

I am not blind to beauty but I'm married, lovely charmer, so Although my eyes I do not shut My rapture I don't plainly show.

Out in the open I will chat In tones which everyone may hear, I will be courteous and all that, But I'll not whisper in your ear!

You're young and lovely, I admit. There's beauty in your neck and arms, But with you, lady, I won't sit Behind a sheltering bank of palms.

Those radiant charms I recognize. You are a vision fair to see; But I'm a married man and wise. I know your charms are not for me.

Is my wife jealous? I can't say. In me she takes a little pride. But this I'll venture anyway, She could be if she tried.

Today's Talks

HALF-FINISHED THINGS

Complete things alone are fully grasped. No imagination travels the same track. It can conceive only in terms of completeness.

I came across a great saying the other evening, written by a man who lived over two centuries ago. This is what he said: "Till a thing is everything, it is nothing, and while it is in process of being it is still nothing."

Nature shows a human being only when it is ready for life—complete.

Many years ago I knew a man who was the personification of energy, life and action. But in all the years I knew him, I never knew him to complete one single thing which he started. He always brought out something incomplete and began to tell how great it would be when finished. But it was never finished.

There is something very wonderful about anything that is complete. It may be a picture, a book, a house, a piece of furniture, a lovely ornament.

The master never exhibits a child of his brain until it has reached its completed state.

The worker who leaves his desk at night with unfinished tasks laying about, comes to that desk on the morrow, not a new man, fit and ready but a worn man, a troubled man and himself in a state of incompleteness. There are those who in themselves emphasize completeness. In their dress, thought, and action, you see one who will not countenance ragged edges and half-done things. And when you look at such a one you recognize a master, a leader—one of Carlyle's sort of kings.

The entire human race daily trips itself up simply because it doesn't chew its food properly. Any physician will tell you this. Almost all our ills can be traced to faulty mastication of food—an incomplete digestive process.

If you only complete one thing a day or one thing in a life-time—provided that one thing is important enough—you have lived well.

YOUTH RECOVERING FROM AMPUTATION AFTER ACCIDENT

Lying on his white bed at Espey Hospital, following the amputation of his right leg below the knee, Tuesday, after the member was mutilated when the lad fell beneath the wheels of a train, Walter Bowermaster, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bowermaster, 5 Locust Street, was recovering Wednesday.

The boy is conscious but hasn't much to say, since he told his parents how he was run down by the train. According to the boy's story, his foot became fastened in the rails and he could not release himself before the train bore down on him.

The boy was injured by the "yard engine" switching in the Pennsylvania yards, along Miami Avenue, Tuesday morning. Trainmen did not see the boy on the tracks and were unaware that they had struck anyone until they heard his screams. For this reason, it is thought the boy was attempting to steal a ride on the train while playing "hooky" from school and was thrown beneath the wheels. His right foot was cut off and the leg so badly mangled that it was amputated below the knee at the hospital.

Walter is a pupil of the fifth grade at Spring Hill school. He said he had left school Tuesday morning after a quarrel with playmates.

FRENCH DELEGATES "TALKED TOO MUCH" PARIS NOW FEELS

Paris, Nov. 18.—Sympathetic American women residing in France misadvised the members of the French debt-paying commission before they went to Washington, according to Stephanie Lauzanne, prominent journalist of the Matin and friend of M. Caillaux.

He told members of the American Women's Club upon his return that they could have rendered the delegates greater service if they had told the truth about America.

Lauzanne frankly admitted that the French delegates had been too confident and that they had talked too much. But to show both sides of the question he added:

"You ladies committed as bad a blunder here in Paris as we did in talking too much in Washington. In your sympathies you had always given us a false idea of this matter. You gave us the impression that the debt would be wiped out. Perhaps your wishes are the wishes of New York, but you had forgotten to remind us that New York is only a small part of America."

Congressman Off to Prison

John W. Langley, re-elected to congress by a Kentucky district while his appeal from a conviction on charge of conspiring to violate prohibition law was pending, is preparing to resign and begin a two-year sentence in Atlanta prison, the appeal having been denied. He isn't upset about it, as new photo shows.

LAIFF RESTS IN DAMAGE ACTION

Trial of the $32,100 damage suit of the Alpha Seed and Grain Company against the Dayton Power and Light company is not expected to end before late Thursday. The plaintiff exhausted its long list of witnesses Wednesday afternoon and rested its case.

Defense witnesses consist of company men and officials scheduled to testify Wednesday afternoon. The case will probably go to the jury Thursday afternoon, counsel announced.

The damage suit grew out of a fire that entirely destroyed the Alpha seed and grain company plant with its contents in 1924 during a severe electrical storm. Cause of the blaze attributed by officials of the concern to excessive voltage furnished by power lines of the defendant company.

MODISH MITZI—The Name Contest Is On

By JAY V. JAY

This is a store window with Mitzi's still unnamed doll in it. Everybody is entering the Contest for a name for Mitzi's doll. Somebody suggested that she put it in a store window for a day so that everybody could see it. Mitzi did and it has set a lot of people to thinking. The doll has for company in this window the model on the extreme left wearing a wrap of velvet combined with metal cloth. Next to her is an evening gown of chiffon with one of the new gypsy girdles. The doll is looking this way but that is because her eyes focus to the left only. She would doubtless divide her attention if she could.

The metallic shawl at the right is worth a great deal more than a glance. It is one of the newest and most scintillating of evening modes. The three window shoppers who are all wearing very stunning off-the-face hats, are muttering names to themselves "just to see how they sound."

They will all three rush home and put the most hopeful ones on paper. The contest for the best name for Mitzi's doll closes on December first. All names should be mailed before that time to Modish Mitzi, care of this newspaper. Remember the best one wins $50.

NEARLY FIFTY THOUSAND VOLUMES DRAWN FROM LIBRARY DURING YEAR

Twenty thousand nine hundred and thirty volumes were on the shelves of the Greene County Library October 1, according to Miss Elta G. McElwain, librarian.

Nine hundred and ten volumes were added during the year, according to her report. Seventy periodicals are regularly received from all sources. Forty-two of these are subscribed for and twenty-eight donated. Forty-eight thousand, seven hundred and ninety volumes were issued from the local library for home use during the past year. Number of readers of books and periodicals in the library at 6,331, Miss McElwain says.

The library was open for circulation 307 days during the past year. The largest daily circulation was 311, the smallest, fifty-six.

The average daily circulation was 1,522. The largest monthly circulation was 5,408, the smallest, 3,044. The average monthly circulation was 4,065.8.

Three hundred and twenty readers have been registered with Miss McElwain the past year. The total number now registered is 5,341.

Increased interest in changing the library into the county district plan has been marked after the recent meeting of the board of governors and County Commissioners with Herbert S. Hirschberg, state librarian, according to Mrs. Karl R. Babb, secretary.

Gifts of much appreciated books have been made constantly during the past year, including $25 from the Junior Woman's Club and $50 from the Business and Professional Women's Club. These gifts have been most acceptable as $25.66 from the sale of waste paper in the library basement was the other source of income outside the county funds.

Because of ill health, Mrs. Reader resigned and Miss Belle Nelberger was elected to take her place in representing Jamestown on the board.

"In spite of our continual lack of funds, many books were acquired during the year, including twenty volumes of Dickens, ten volumes of Thackeray, twelve volumes of Scott and five books of Hawthorne," Mrs. Babb has announced.

Governors held twelve monthly and one called meeting the past year. Officers for the year were: Miss Jean B. Elwell, president; Mrs. Mary Little Dixon, vice president; Mrs. Karl Babb, secretary.

PROFESSOR SPEAKS AT ROTARY MEETING

Dr. Paul Bloomhart, Springfield, professor of history at Wittenberg College, was the speaker before the Xenia Rotary Club at the Elks' Club, Tuesday.

His subject was "War Guilt" and he outlined the events immediately preceding the start of the World War, as revealed in recent documents and international correspondence now open to historians.

His address was the main feature of the luncheon meeting.

SKUNK CASE THROWN OUT OF JUSTICE COURT

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 18—"I've got the evidence," Walter R. Andres, game warden, said as he walked into Justice of the Peace William Zoul's office.

Zoul sniffed the air and then yelled.

"Get out. You can't bring that kind of evidence into my court. Besides, I have a wedding scheduled in five minutes."

Andres had four kinks caught in traps.

LESS TURKEYS WILL BE AVAILABLE, SAID

Columbus, Nov. 18—The Thanksgiving industry—turkey raising—is on the toboggan and not so many birds will be available this year, state director of agriculture Truax announced today.

"Ohio farmers have not produced as many turkeys this year as last," Truax said. "Uncertainty of the market; the hazards of raising young turks and the cold storage system have killed the enthusiasm of many farmers who formerly specialized in raising the birds."

Truax said he expected prices to soar as a result of what may turn into a shortage.

NEAR HALF COLLEGE WOMEN NOT MARRIED

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 18—Forty six per cent of the women who have graduated from Ohio State University during the last twenty years have not married, statistics showed today.

"It's because college women are smarter, not because they haven't the chance," Miss Jessica Foster, assistant dean of women, said. "They don't have to marry in order to gain a living, because of their greater earning capacity."

"The average college woman wants a home and family, but because of her higher living standards she hates to assume the responsibility," according to Miss Sophie H. Baker, mistress of Pomerene Hall.

JUDGE ACTS AS AID TO SANTA CLAUS

Toledo, Ohio, Nov. 18—Judge John Killits made it possible for Santa Claus to come to the home of two small children of Harry Leininger, convicted of violating the prohibition act.

Leininger was sentenced to 60 days in the workhouse, but sentence is not to start until Jan. 15. This leniency was shown upon the appeal of counsel who said that incarceration of his client would mean a sad Christmas for his two small children.

"He should have thought of his children before he went into the liquor game," the court retorted. "I hate to make children suffer but he has to pay the penalty. It will be suspended until Jan. 15."

No more RHEUMATISM

[T'S GONE! That awful agony! Rheumatism can't stand the rich red blood that S. S. S. helps Nature build.

But rheumatism will bring pain and misery to your joints and muscles just as long as you are without plenty of rich, red blood in your system.

It's the red-blood cells that S. S. S. helps Nature build that drive out of your system the impurities that cause rheumatism. And until you do build up your blood to where it is pure and rich and red, you simply can't get rid of rheumatism.

And S. S. S. is the thing. Red blood conquers rheumatism. Everybody knows that.

S. S. S. means millions of red-blood cells—means health all over. No more rheumatism. Nights of rest—days of joy, filled with the happiness of accomplishment—made possible by a body brimful of red blood life, energy and vitality.

Poor Factory Lighting
Steals Profits—
Good Lighting Protects Them

Good lighting decreases accidents, reduces spoilage and diminishes labor turnover. Good lighting decreases factory costs. Many authoritative tests prove that!

Yet four of every five plants are poorly lighted—have lighting that makes production costs excessive. Good artificial lighting in your plant can give 15% increase or more in production or its equivalent in lowered manufacturing cost.

This problem of proper lighting in the factory is one of great importance and may mean the difference between profits and losses when the balance sheet is drawn.

Without obligation to you, we will gladly investigate your lighting needs and recommend improvements that will enable you to decrease your cost of production by increasing production with the same men and equipment.

Keeping the Home Ties

ROBERT and Mary are away at college but mother and father back in the home town have a way to keep the home influence with their children—long distance telephone service.

Their college allowance provides for the expense of telephone calls, and one evening each week after 8:30 both son and daughter make a visit to their parents by telephone.

Father hears details of the football games he can't get in the papers and mother has the satisfaction of talking with her daughter, something which means much to every mother. Many little problems are ironed out by the kindly parental advice.

In that home the calling hours are magical ones and the voices of the children help to break the loneliness.

Such a service is available to the parents of all Roberts and Marys. Station-to-station calls made after 8:30 in the evening when special reduced rates are effective on all calls for which the day rate is more than 25 cents, make it inexpensive.

Our commercial office will be glad to explain this service to parents or students.

MILITARY BURIAL GIVEN MEMBER OF INFANTRY COMPANY

William J. McCoy, 18, of Jamestown, first class private in Company L, 147th Infantry, Ohio National Guard, who died at his home Sunday morning at 2:30 o'clock from blood poisoning settling in his left cheek, was buried in Jamestown Cemetery Tuesday morning with full military honors.

He was accorded military funeral by his comrades. The company attended funeral services at Christ Church, Jamestown, Tuesday morning and formed a guard of honor about the casket on the march to the cemetery. The casket was draped with the American flag. The military ritual was carried out at the cemetery, with a firing squad giving a salute and taps sounded by the company bugler.

Healthy Hair

Gleamy, Thick, Wavy
—Full of Life

Modern style in hair dress, particularly constant curling and waving, is slowly burning the color, lustre and very life from the hair, leaving it dry, faded, brittle, streaked with gray; often the hair root shrinks, then the hair falls out fast.

A 35-cent bottle of refreshing, fragrant "Dandeline" will do wonders for any girl's hair. This vitalizing beauty-cream acts on the hair like fresh showers of rain and sunshine act on vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates, nourishes and strengthens them, helping the hair to grow thick, healthy and luxuriant.

Try this "for one week." While combing and dressing your hair, moisten your hair brush with a little "Dandeline" and brush it through your hair—the effect is startling! Your hair immediately takes on new life and that healthy, youthful lustre, becomes incomparably soft, wavy and appears twice as thick and abundant.—Adv.

"Bobbed Hair" A DAZZLING MYSTERY STORY BY TWENTY FAMOUS AUTHORS

SYNOPSIS

David Lacy, victim of a nocturnal motor accident on Long Island, is making his way out of the ditch when he is halted by two strangers, who make him accompany them and board a row-boat on the Sound. One of his companions is "Doc." The other, a young woman, is "Sweetie." Meanwhile, Connemara Moore, a young heiress, garbed now as a nun, finds herself aboard a yacht, being chased by revenue officers. Connie was to have announced her engagement tonight—but didn't.

He smiled tenderly at her. "I knew you'd do it for me," he said softly.

The little boat rolled crazily through the waves. The big man seemed to be taking a well-known course, for he steered purposefully, guiding himself by the rays of the flashlight. They toiled on in silence, soaked and tempest-tossed.

Abruptly the engine gave a petulant sigh and ceased functioning. Doc used language, then resorted to manual labor. In vain he pulled and oiled and wrenched. The Idle Hour tossed miserably, going as the waves took it.

"Hey, you," the big man growled at David. "What do you know about engines?"

"All," said David modestly. He bent beside Doc, and together they strove to make the aged engine listen to reason.

Across the water came the throbbing of a powerful motor and the swish of waves severed neatly by a sharp bow. Sweetie caught Doc's sleeve.

"Just a minute, there, feller," she said.

There was a curious dull sound, as the revolver butt met his head.

The big man raised his head and listened. Cautiously he used his flashlight, as the sounds drew nearer. Crossing their path was a big black motor boat, long and flowing of line. David sat up sharply, his hands gripping the edge of the seat.

From the larger boat came a woman's voice, high and shrill with terror.

"McTish!" it soared desperately.

"McTish!"

David leaped to his feet in the wildly rocking boat.

"McTish!" he roared across the angry water.

As he called the girl had sprung up on the seat behind him. Her arm came swiftly down; there was a curious dull sound, as the revolver butt met his head.

Slowly and not ungracefully Mr. David Lacy crumpled up in a heap in the bottom of the boat.

CHAPTER VIII

H. C. Witwer

By H. C. Witwer

In the same instant that the fear-stricken Connemara screamed wildly for McTish, with the prehensile fingers of Mr. Pooch pawing at her throat, the utter absurdity of her appeal struck her. The idea of the little, flame-haired, candidly drunk Scotchman in the role of knight errant would have changed her shriek of fear to one of mirth—under other circumstances. Just now, however, Connemara's sense of humor was conspicuous by its absence! A panicky terror gripped her, mingled with amazement. Where was the owner of the familiar voice that had just echoed her frenzied scream "McTish!" across the water? Who was—?

LEAGUE OF NATIONS' DISARMAMENT PLANS RETARDED BY GERMAN ENTRY

Geneva, Nov. 18.—The entrance of Germany into the League of Nations is expected to delay temporarily rather than to speed up the League's program for a disarmament conference.

The same delay will also apply to the League's two other principal projects for the coming year, namely the convoking of an international economic conference and also an international press conference for the purpose of moral disarmament. The first of these two projects was brought before the League by France and the second by Senator Yanez of Chile.

According to League circles the entrance of Germany into the League changes immensely the whole situation of the League as regards Europe and questions affecting Europe. As Germany will come into the League as one of the principal European powers and with a seat on the League council, it is pointed out that it would be manifestly unwise for the League to go ahead with any program affecting Europe as a whole until Germany is in a position to present her viewpoint and take an active part in what the League hopes to do.

As a result of the decisions of the last League Assembly the December meeting of the League council was scheduled to take up immediately the question of creating the organism necessary for the preparation of a disarmament conference, an economic conference and the press conference. However, as Germany cannot be admitted to the League before January and as the League feels that Germany should by all means have representatives on the various commissions and organism that are to prepare these conferences, it is now planned that the League Council in December will let all of these questions go over until the March meeting.
